1951 Championship Football Team

The Bloomsburg University Athletic Department recently established an award to honor PSAC championship teams. In celebration of the 50th anniversary of its Pennsylvania State Teachers College Conference championship, the 1951 football team was the first to receive the new Team of Champions Award.

The 1951 football team, coached by Bob Redman, was one of only two teams in Bloomsburg football history to go undefeated (1948 was the first).

The award was presented to team alumni on September 8 when the Huskies hosted Shippensburg University in a season-opener at Redman Stadium. The reunion was well attended; 35 out of 55 team members reunited to celebrate the honor (nine team members are deceased).

Festivities began with a pre-game brunch at Buckalew Place, hosted by University President Jessica Kozloff. During half time, the 1951 team was honored on the field. Following the game, team members gathered on the lawn of the Fenstemaker Alumni House to reminisce and enjoy the company of former teammates and their families.

Huskies' Fall sports wrap-up by Tom McGuire, BU Sports Information Director

Football

Led by PSAC Eastern Division Offensive Player of the Year, Marques Glaze, and PSAC East Coach of the Year Danny Hale, the Bloomsburg football team posted a record of 9-1 during the regular season. The Huskies also earned a berth to the NCAA championships for the second straight season where they lost to Grand Valley State, the eventual NCAA Division II runner-up.

Glaze, a senior tailback, rushed for 1,327 yards and 12 touchdowns on 211 carries this season, including a career-best of 222 yards against East Stroudsburg. He finished his career as the school's third all-time leading rusher with 3,331 yards.

Hale was named the PSAC Coach of the Year for the second consecutive year and eighth time overall. Hale has led the Huskies to the NCAA Division II playoffs two years in a row for the first time in school history. He has compiled a record of 73-29-1 in nine seasons at the helm for Bloomsburg and an overall record of 113-42-1 in 14 seasons as a Division II head coach. The 73 wins at Bloomsburg is a school record. He was also named the American Football Coaches Association Division II Region I Coach of the Year for the eighth time in his career, five of them coming at Bloomsburg.

The Huskies started the season with four straight wins before losing a tough, 23-12 decision on the road at Indiana (PA). Needing to win their remaining games to get a playoff berth, the Huskies rolled over East Stroudsburg, Mansfield and Millersville before struggling to beat Kutztown. In the final game of the season, the Huskies easily beat Slippery Rock to earn the fourth and final NCAA Northeast Region playoff spot.

Traveling to Allendale, Michigan, for the opening round of the playoffs the Huskies were not able to overcome some missed opportunities and fell to Grand Valley, 42-14.

Soccer

The men's soccer team wrapped up a successful season with a 3-1 win over California (PA), the first place finisher in the PSAC regular season. The Huskies ended the year on a four-game winning streak which included an overtime victory against PSAC-rival Lock Haven.

Bloomsburg was also ranked fourth in the final Mid-Atlantic Regional rankings.

Defense was the name of the game for Bloomsburg this year allowing just 21 goals. Goalie Kevin Wright was 6-1-1 with four shutouts while Phil Bocchino was a standout on defender all season.

The women's soccer team once again had another very successful season posting a record of 15-4-1. Coach Sandy Dickson led her squad to the PSAC finals for the second straight year (where it lost in four overtimes for the second straight year) and to the NCAA Division II tournament for the third time in four years.

Senior Alea Balthaser and junior Renee Williams led the Huskies' offensive attack combining for 32 of the team's 54 goals on the season. Balthaser, named an All-American following the season, finished her career as the school's all-time leader in goals (60), assists (35) and points (155). Also, freshman goalie Heather Hartman set a school record with 12 shutouts this season to lead the defensive effort for the Huskies.

Cross Country

Both the men's and women's cross country teams showed improvement during the 2001 season with 10th place finishes at the PSAC championships.

For the men, sophomore Chris Turner placed 21st at the PSAC championships and was 19th place at the NCAA Regional championships. It was the best finish for a Bloomsburg men's cross country runner since Chris Mosecatello's 18th place finish in 1997.

For the women, 39-year old Kim Gasper was the top finisher at the PSAC championships in 20th place, while coming home in 33rd place at the NCAA Regional championships.

The men's team will return everyone next season, while the women will return all but three runners to next year's Huskies squad.

Field Hockey

The Bloomsburg field hockey team wrapped up another successful season by winning its final nine games to finish with a 14-3 record. The Huskies, however, did not earn a post-season bid for the first time in over 20 years.

Four members of the team went on to earn All-American honors for their play this season. They were Shanna Fritz and Marlea Partlon, named first team All-Americans by the National Field, while Nikki Hartranft and Trish Leitzel were named second team All-Americans.

Fritz, a sophomore, finished the season with 19 goals, six assists and 44 points. Partlon, a senior back, had a solid final year, playing excellent defense in all 17 games she played in this season. She helped the defense hold opponents to just a 0.57 goals against average on the year. Hartranft, a sophomore, was second on the team with 13 goals and 34 points, while leading the team with eight assists. Leitzel, a junior goalie, posted a 0.63 goals against average and an .853 save percentage. She allowed just 10 goals and made 58 saves en route to 11 shutouts on the year.

Hear Ye, Hear Ye. We have not planned any special annual reunion this year. Why? Frankly, the thought crossed my mind that perhaps we might be invited to the 60th reunion of the Class of 1942. If not, let me be the first to inform you that there are already tentative plans for our 60th reunion on the weekend of May 2, 2003, at the Danville Days Inn. Your family is invited as well. Perhaps they can be your chauffeur!

The wall clock the Class of 1943 donated to the Curtis R. English Great Room Foyer at the Fenstermaker Alumni House was at the right place and the right time — for the open house and dedication on Homecoming Weekend, October 19-21. When you are in the area, be sure to drop in to see it. You will be "oh, so proud."

BSTC CLASS OF 1952 WILL COMMEMORATE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF GRADUATION

On Friday, May 3, 2002, an event of such monumental importance will take place that the announcement deserves no less than a banner headline (well, at least all caps!). Circle the date on your calendar now and make arrangements to meet your friends at this once-in-a-lifetime milestone occasion.

Classmates should already have received an announcement by mail, including a bio form to return to the Alumni Office with information for the reunion book. If you did not get the mailing, contact the Alumni Office at 1-800-526-0254 or 570-389-4058 or alnm@hloommt.edu.

Ours will be the first class to hold a reunion dinner in the Curtis English Great Room at the Fenstemaker Alumni House—our chance to set a precedent! To triple the fun, the classes of 1951 and 1953 are also invited. Alumni from other '50s years are welcome as well, since our friendships spanned the entire student body.

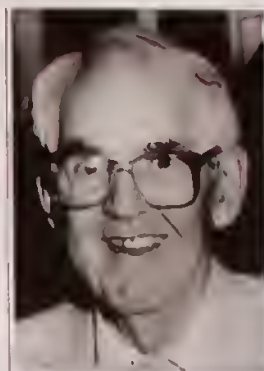

The festivities continue on Saturday, May 4, with reserved seating at the all-alumni luncheon in Kehr Union and special recognition as the 50-year class. If your schedule permits, stay for the annual awards dinner that evening where you may have opportunity to meet Governor Mark Schweiker, BU alumnus.

Imagine all this, plus the delight of turning the clock back 50+ years and reconnecting with our Hinky spirit! Remember how, as freshmen, we had to learn the alma mater? You do recall all three verses, don't you? The sentiment of the second verse is a perfect theme for our 50-year reunion:

*Far and wide though we may wander
Still our hearts are true
To our hilltop alma mater
We our pledge renew*

Through all the intervening years we have remained true to our college roots—our education, our friendships, our coming-of-age much that we hold dear. So do come back to Bloomsburg this May, renew that pledge to our alma mater and find that piece of your heart you left in 1952.

For the Reunion Committee,
Nancy Swartz Lynchos

Father and daughter write historical novels

John F. Magill '48 and his daughter Susan Magill Reynolds '71 have created four historical novels in two volumes. A Soldier's Psalm: An Odyssey of America's Restless Warriors begins in 1770 and follows the fictional family of Malcolm James through several generations. In each story, the central character becomes enmeshed with salient historic figures, "some maligned, others wrongfully worshipped and still others virtually forgotten."

Book I thrusts the hero-narrator into the fledgling days of our republic as he rubs elbows with George Washington, Daniel Morgan, Benedict Arnold and Horatio Gates. Subsequent volumes follow James' descendants to Little Bighorn and scenes of World War II. Book IV takes readers to the year 2000.

Published by Trafford Publishing, Book I and II in one volume is available now. Book III and IV in one volume will be available in early 2002.

John earned a master's degree in 1953 and a doctorate in 1965 from Pennsylvania State University. He worked in public, private and higher education for more than 30 years. Education to Go

Non-credit online courses offered by BU's Continuing Education department may be just what some alums are looking for. You can "chart a career path at your own pace" they say!

Anytime, anywhere, you can learn new skills or improve existing skills. All you need is internet access and an email address.

If you are unable to take a course that meets regularly in a classroom due to work, scheduling conflicts, transportation problems or other responsibilities, online learning may be just right for you.

Convenience is the number one reason students turn to Education to Go. "This class was extremely informative, pertained to my job function and was convenient to my hectic schedule," said one student.

Courses can help you advance in your career or explore interests and hobbies. More than 140 courses are available in areas such as computers, internet, marketing, management, small businesses, medical terminology, journal writing, magazine writing, test preparation, foreign language, grant writing and paralegal certification.

The six-week, 12-lesson, instructor-led courses include materials, quizzes and discussions online. The instructor is "there" to answer your questions and you may interact with other students taking the course. You receive a Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania certificate of completion at the end of the course. Costs range from $50 to $200 per course with $79.99 being the average.

To view a demonstration course and frequently asked questions about Education to Go's online courses go to ed2go.com/bup or call the BU Continuing Education office at 570-389-4420 for more information.

"As for the bottom photo on page 61, it was obviously taken well after 1968. We didn't dare wear slacks, let alone shorts on campus until after 4 p.m., and never in classroom building. Dinner in the Commons was Sunday best—heels and dresses, coats and ties. Today's students—who hadn't even been born then—would shudder. But then they never had to live with the rules and regulations of the early 1900s either. I remember doing a Bloomsburg Players spoof on regulations at a May Alumni Day get-together. An aunt and uncle of mine who met at Bloom in the '20s used to regale me with tales of campus dating etiquette way back then.

A new look at Henry Carver and Institute Hall

by Robert Dunkelberger
Bloomsburg University Archivist

There have been a number of histories written about Bloomsburg University, the first in the mid-1870s by Colonel John G. Freeze and the most recent by Eda Bessie Edwards a century later in 1979, Profile of the Past. These chronicles vary in completeness and accuracy, especially concerning the mid-1860s when Henry Carver came to Bloomsburg and when Institute Hall—now Carver Hall—was built. This article offers a new interpretation of this period in the history of both the university and the town using contemporary sources, including never-before researched articles from a local newspaper, the Columbia Democrat and Star of the North.

One fact that must be made perfectly clear when looking at the history of the university is that it would not be here today if not for the unwavering support of the people of Bloomsburg. They saw the potential of the school and knew what its success would mean for the community's future. What would one day become Bloomsburg University started in the spring of 1866 when Henry Carver came to town to begin teaching classical courses. This was the true beginning of higher education in Bloomsburg.

Carver comes to Bloomsburg

As the story goes, Henry J. Carver of Binghamton, NY, came through Bloomsburg, probably in early March 1866, on a vacation down the Susquehanna River. He had an extensive background in education and had previously run schools and academies in New York and California. Carver stayed in Bloomsburg several days and inquired about the status of the schools, meeting with prominent men of the town including the Rev. David J. Waller. He was most likely shown the Academy Building on Third Street, a facility he must have judged inadequate for a first-class educational institution.

The discussions with Henry Carver were first made known to the public in a notice published in the Columbia Democrat and Star of the North of March 21, 1866:

The attention of the public is directed to the fact that the School Directors of Bloom township have taken initiatory steps to get a number of stockholders or contributors sufficient to erect and establish an Academy in the town of Bloomsburg, for the instruction of young men and women in both the professional and ordinary business affairs of life. This is a move in the right direction. Such a building in this place is imperatively demanded.

Henry Carver was introduced to the citizens of Bloomsburg at a meeting held in the Lutheran Church on March 28. The purpose of the meeting was to take immediate action to open a good, first class school in the town since one did not currently exist. Carver addressed the meeting as a teacher with a long, successful, academy and literary institute career. He provided those present at the meeting with practical information on what needed to be done. After lengthy discussion, a committee was appointed to immediately begin the process of opening the school and erecting suitable buildings for it. Carver must have made it quite clear that the primary condition of his staying in Bloomsburg to teach was that the inadequate Academy Building be replaced.

All previous histories have stated that Henry Carver was in Bloomsburg and teaching for a period of anywhere from one month to two years before mention was made of the need for a new school building. The article from the newspaper clearly shows that discussion of a new facility occurred before he ever opened a school here, and he must have insisted that this be done. A man of his background would not have been content teaching at a small school for a low salary and no assurances that something better was imminent.

On April 4, it was announced that the Bloomsburg Literary Institute was now open for students with Prof. Henry Carver as principal, the Rev. J. R. Dimm of the Lutheran Church serving as Professor of Ancient Languages and Miss Sarah Carver, Henry Carver's daughter, as preceptress or female teacher. The first 11-week term was due to begin on April 16. The institute would allow young men to acquire a thorough business education or college preparation, and young ladies a useful education.

Interest in the Literary Institute must have been high because it opened a week early on April 9, 1866, when Prof. Carver made his opening remarks to the students, outlining their responsibilities and how they could best achieve success both in school and later in life. This date marks the start of classes at what would one day become Bloomsburg University.

Official date linked to Academy

Although the university dates its origin to the start of the Bloomsburg Academy in 1839, this date did not appear in any official school publication, in this case, the course catalog, until 1928. In fact, the 1901 catalog, in reference to the College Preparatory Department of the then Bloomsburg Literary Institute and State Normal School, clearly states that the department dates back to the original establishment of the school in 1866 when Henry Carver began teaching—not 1839. The direct connection between the university and the academy was not made until the J. H. Beers history of Columbia and Montour counties was published in 1915.

The first historian of the school, John G. Freeze, in his 1883 history, actually relegated the Bloomsburg Academy of 1839 to the category of a common school. He stated that what is now Bloomsburg University began in 1856 with the original chartering of the Bloomsburg Literary Institute. But since that school ceased operating a number of years before Henry Carver came to town and the quality of its education was at the secondary level, it can be argued that the historical start of the university was in April 1866.

The reason for using the 1839 date seems to relate to the fact that when the history of the school section in the 1928 catalog was written, using information from previous histories and especially the most recent one by Beers, Bloomsburg had been a state teachers college for only one year. The 1839 start date was probably chosen because it made the new college seem as old as possible, helping it compete with other institutions. The school's 100th anniversary was now just 11 years away instead of 38.

A little more than three weeks after the first classes began, the charter for Bloomsburg Literary Institute, initially formed in September 1856, was revived on May 2, 1866. The Board of Trustees met two days later and wasted no time in forming a committee to determine the location of the new institute buildings. It is evident the trustees wanted to maintain the momentum brought about by the arrival of Prof. Carver and push forward with construction of the first building. But this could not be accomplished without money, and it was up to the citizens of Bloomsburg to supply the financial backing. The trustees decided to sell 1000 shares of stock in an attempt to raise $20,000 for the land and construction. The shares were valued at $20 each, payable in $5-installments.

Influential citizens involved

The trustees during these early years included many of the most influential citizens of Bloomsburg. These men played a crucial role in providing support, primarily financial, for the school as it grew and developed. They included the Rev. David J. Waller; judges Leonard B. Rupert and William Elwell; merchants Isaiah W. Hartman, John Wolf and Elias Mendenhall; lawyer John G. Freeze; and William Neal, owner of a major iron furnace in town.

By the end of May, Prof. Carver was formally elected to the position he was already serving in, that of principal of the institute. The trustees were confident in his abilities as a teacher and what he could do for the school. On May 31, a report was made suggesting a number of possible locations in the town for the institute, and it was decided to have the stock subscribers vote the following month for their choice. The decision was postponed once, but on June 22 the stockholders overwhelmingly voted in favor of three acres of land owned by William Snyder costing $1500. The land was located at the east end of Main Street on the hill overlooking the town.

The institute at this point became more financially solvent, with 596 shares subscribed for a total of just under $12,000. But the selling of stock remained a continuing concern for the trustees to insure that enough money was available. An architect in Washington was consulted, although in the end it was left up to Prof. Carver to draft a plan for the institute building along with the estimated cost.

On June 28, there was an extensive debate among the trustees as to whether or not to proceed with the amount of money that had been raised. After more shares were sold, it was decided to acquire plans and specifications for a building to house 300 students at a cost of no more than $15,000.

The institute meanwhile concluded the spring term, the first one under Prof. Carver, on the afternoon of June 28 when it held its closing exercises. The students seem to have made good progress, evidenced by the reading of their own compositions in front of teachers, parents and the public. Carver was praised for interesting his pupils in their studies, leading to great improvement in their education. Although he had only been in Bloomsburg for a short time, Henry Carver had won the confidence of the community and would continue to head the institute after it moved to its new location on the hill.

Institute moves to the hill

On July 12, Prof. Carver presented a building design that could be built at an estimated cost of $14,000. Even though there was still some concern over the expense, the plans were accepted as proposed. Another committee of trustees was formed to find both contractors to construct the building and to work with William Snyder to determine the site of the building on the land he had offered for sale.

The majority report of the committee on location voted to place the building at the top of the hill at the end of Main Street. A minority report of Rev. David J. Waller stated that the location was not acceptable because the site was isolated, the grade of the hill too steep and the lot was surrounded by two stables, the rear of a tavern and a tannery. After going to the site to view the land, the trustees voted to accept the majority report.

The one major drawback to the selected site was the fact that a tavern, more accurately the Forks Hotel, was in the middle of Main Street next to the present-day location of Town Hall. But the trustees attempted to reassure the public that in the near future the hotel would be removed to open up Main Street to the front of the Institute Building. This hope for a speedy removal was unrealistic, however. The hotel had been remodeled just four years earlier and again in 1866. In May of that year plans had been announced to enlarge it 60 feet and add another story. This did not sound like a building ready to disappear.

By the end of July, Prof. Carver was contracted to erect the institute building, and workmen began to prepare the foundation so bricks could be laid. Workers needed to be paid and supplies purchased, so a notice was put out that the subscribers of the Bloomsburg Literary Institute were requested to pay the first installment of $5 for each share they owned before August 1. The fourth and final installment would be requested by January 1, 1867.

Work progressed rapidly and within five weeks the foundation walls had gone up and the masons had almost completed their work. The fall session began on September 3 in the Academy Building with a full class and one more instructor. This was Alice Carver, a second daughter of Henry, who became assistant preceptress and teacher of instrumental music. During this term, in addition to the regular classes that had been offered during the spring, Prof. Carver gave a series of lectures on the theory and practice of teaching for anyone who desired to become a first-class teacher. This was a prelude to the focus that would soon be made on teacher education when the Literary Institute became a state normal school.

In early December, a committee of trustees examined both the finances of the institute and the progress of construction; both were in good order. Another teacher was hired so that Prof. Carver could serve as contractor and personally supervise the work. The last term in the old Academy Building began on January 7, and by February work on the institute building was nearing its end. The floors were down, windows in place and heaters in operation. It was hoped the building would be ready for occupation by the beginning of April, an event everyone looked forward to with great anticipation since this would be a far superior facility to the existing one.

Institute Hall dedicated

By late March the Institute Building was completed and the dedication set for Wednesday afternoon, April 3, 1867. It was a warm and beautiful day, and a procession led by the Bloomsburg Brass Band began at the Academy Building and went east on Third Street toward Market. It then proceeded north to Main and then on to the institute. The doors were unlocked by Leonard B. Rupert, President of the Board of Trustees, after which the faculty, pupils, parents, trustees and citizens of Bloomsburg marched into the hall for a long day of pomp and ceremony. It was so long, in fact, that by late that evening only half the program had been completed. The program finally concluded the following night.

BLOOMSBURG LITERARY INSTITUTE

To spread abroad the influence of Education, and train up youth to intelligence is, of course, the prime object for which every school is established. There are many ways in which this object is sought to be obtained. We deem that the most proper and successful, however, which aims at the development of all the natural talents of the pupil; which calls into active use every faculty of the mind and exercises all its powers to their utmost capacity; for by so doing, the whole mind is strengthened, and that just equipoise among all the powers, which is so essential to complete success is maintained.

The founders of this Institution intend that it shall be second to none in the facilities it affords young men, for acquiring a thorough Commercial and business education or in preparing for any class in College; or in the advantages it affords young ladies for acquiring a Useful and Ornamental Education.

dedication date for Institute (now Carver) Hall as Thursday, April 4, and this error has been repeated ever since. It is clearly shown in a number of contemporary sources that the dedication was held Wednesday, April 3, and the ceremonies ended the following day.

The importance of the new building and Bloomsburg Literary Institute to the history of the town of Bloomsburg can hardly be overestimated. It quite possibly could be the single most defining moment that shaped the path the community has followed since that day. As the Bloomsburg Democrat of April 17, 1867 stated:

This is an epoch in the history of Columbia County, and of Bloomsburg in particular, which will not soon pass out of our recollection of local events, for the Institute building itself will be a standing monument of the enterprise of our citizens, and of the energy and business capacity of the projector Professor Henry Carver

The attraction of the new facility was tremendous, as was reflected in the size of the class for the spring term, growing from 40 pupils the previous year to 180. But additional fundraising was still necessary in order to complete the building. A bell was needed for the cupola, and the cost for one weighing just over 2000 pounds was $1,115. Even with the existing debt, it took only one week to raise the money by subscription. The bell was ordered in mid-April, arrived on May 24, and was raised into the cupola the next afternoon to ring for the first time. As a writer declared in The Columbian, a great deal of credit had to go to the citizens of Bloomsburg and the surrounding area for displaying a sense of community spirit in supporting this effort. They knew what the school would mean to the town and were willing to make financial sacrifices to see it succeed.

Further money-raising activities were carried out to complete the furnishings of the building. One was in June 1867 when the ladies of Bloomsburg held a week-long strawberry festival at the Literary Institute, where they served ice creams and cakes. It was a great success and the proceeds from the festival were used to pay for chandeliers that had been purchased for the auditorium, as well as books for the library, scientific equipment and maps.

The Bloomsburg Literary Institute continued to grow, and in March 1868 the trustees approved a resolution for the institute to become a state normal school for the purpose of teacher education. This decision both changed the course of the school's history and insured that it would survive. Money was raised to construct a dormitory that was necessary for formal accreditation, and the building was completed early in 1869. On February 8, the trustees wrote to the State Superintendent of Common Schools to say that all was in readiness with the grounds, buildings and school, so a formal inspection could now be conducted. A committee was sent 11 days later and their recommendation was positive. On February 22, 1869, a proclamation officially recognized the school as the Bloomsburg Literary Institute and State Normal School of the Sixth District.

Through the rest of the 19th century and up until the Bloomsburg State Normal School was bought by the state in 1916, it was primarily the responsibility of the Board of Trustees to find funding for buying land and constructing more buildings. The trustees carried out this responsibility with determination and foresight, cementing the prospects for the school's future growth into a university.

But it was the efforts of Henry Carver together with the support of his students and the citizens of the town of Bloomsburg in early 1866 that ultimately allowed the school to succeed. This initial embrace of higher education has benefited the community for the past 135 years.

Enduring Love: Newlyweds learn meaning of "in sickness and in health"

Laura Thompson '99 and Mark Shive '99 were looking forward to getting the keys to their new house in Fredericksburg, VA. They headed out to the closing in separate cars, both packed with stuff to move to their new home later that day.

"We got separated on the way," Mark said, "which is easy to do here, so I got there first. I expected her to pull up in five minutes. The five minutes turned into 10 minutes, then 20 minutes. At 45 minutes I started to panic."

A few blocks away, Laura was driving on a four-lane highway when a 19 year-old woman, trying to make a left-hand turn, pulled out in front of her.

The crash totaled Laura's car. She had burns on her hands from the air bag, but she refused to go to the hospital.

"I was afraid that we wouldn't be able to close on our house," she said, "so the tow truck driver drove me there."

"I was just getting ready to go look for her when the flatbed pulled up," Mark said. "She had burns pretty bad but she looked OK. About 30 minutes later, during the closing, her body turned into a big knot and she had neck and back pain. She had a hard time writing her name."

After the closing, Mark took her to Mary Washington Hospital. She was treated for burns and severe whiplash, given painkillers and muscle relaxants, and then sent home.

In pain, and groggy from the medication, Laura was unable to help Mark move their belongings the next day. Friends helped while another friend stayed with Laura.

Two weeks later, Laura returned to her job teaching fourth grade, even though she was experiencing some confusion and memory loss problems.

"I thought it was from the meds," Laura said, "so I stopped taking them."

But the problems got worse. The back and neck pain became more severe and spread to her legs. The scope of her intellectual problems hothered her even more.

She'd get lost in her house. She would head for the closet and end up in the bathroom and didn't know why. She would go to take a shower and turn the cold water on instead of the hot.

"Here I was, a college honors student, and I couldn't remember things," she said. "I couldn't teach my students or grade their papers. I couldn't add. I couldn't take my class to lunch because it was a big school, and I wasn't very mobile. My co-workers and aides helped me finish the year."

"Her intellectual problems didn't stick out because of all the physical pain she was in," Mark said.

In June 2000, the doctor said she wasn't healing fast enough and referred Laura to Sheltering Arms Rehabilitation Hospital in Richmond, VA.

Then she was referred to a physiatrist, a physical medicine and rehabilitation specialist in both permanent and temporary disabling conditions.

"She located trigger points, marble sized knots in my muscles that were causing pain and numbness in my arms and legs," Laura said.

For months she received painful cortisone injections to help her cope with the pain.

That same month she developed severe migraines and was referred to a neurologist. But it was the physiatrist who mentioned a possible reason for Laura's problems.

"The doctor mentioned that my brain could have been sloshed and could have cognitive difficulties that are usually resolved in a few months."

And her wedding date was fast approaching.

Laura and Mark discussed the possibility that she wouldn't get back to normal, but that possibility didn't bother Mark.

"When you love someone you, don't leave them four months before the wedding just because they were in an accident," Mark said. "I got upset with friends who asked me about it. It shocks me when they ask."

Laura spent most of the rehearsal dinner lying in a dark room.

"The over stimulation at seeing friends and family, plus the added tasks of practicing and trying to concentrate on what I had to remember the next day, were too much for me," she said.

It was obvious she was going to have trouble walking down the aisle.

"Mark is 6 feet 4 inches tall and I'm 5 feet 2 inches tall and my wedding shoes were two and a half inch heels," Laura said. "My dress had been fitted for heels, but I couldn't wear them."

Her physical therapist suggested lightweight platform shoes with good support.

"We couldn't find white," Laura said, "only black. My friend helped me spray paint them and put ribbons

Laura shows off the redecorated black platform shoes that she at first thought were ugly. Despite Laura's initial disappointment, the new shoes gave her the support she needed to walk down the aisle and lace on them."

At first Laura thought her new wedding shoes were ugly. But Mark thought they were cute. Despite her disappointment over having to change her shoes, the new ones gave her the support she needed to walk down the aisle.

The wedding was at 6 p.m. and she spent most of the day on a portable traction machine, with a heating pad on her neck.

Because she couldn't stand for long periods, she sat on a padded chair during the ceremony. After the ceremony, Mark asked if he could carry her down the church steps. She said she wanted to walk.

"I walked down very slowly and Mark watched every step to make sure I was OK," Laura said.

They knew that the honeymoon cruise they had planned would be too much for her, so they spent a few days at Ocean City, MD.

Laura Thompson '99 and Mark Shive '99

Laura and Mark celebrated their first anniversary August 12, 2001.

Laura continues with physical therapy and still experiences many cognitive difficulties. She says she has started to see a vocational rehabilitation counselor to find work she could do a few hours a week from home. She is still unable to drive.

Mark teaches 10th grade world history in the Stafford County (VA) Schools and is an associate scout for the Anaheim Angels Baseball Club Inc.

"We spent it on the beach," she said, "not walking on the boardwalk."
The first nine months of marriage were rough.

"I couldn't even explain to friends how bad things were," Mark said. "I couldn't hug her for nine months because of her neck and back pain. She'd be on the floor crying with pain."

She couldn't even hold a cleaning rag.

"Mark was amazing," Laura said. "He did all the cooking, all the cleaning. He drove me to doctor appointments because I couldn't drive."

The year following the accident, Laura had a doctor appointment every day. Now it's down to three times a week. Juggling a job and taking care of Laura was stressful for Mark.

"There were days when she'd see how stressed I was from working my job and then cooking and cleaning and it would bring her to tears," Mark said. By sitting down and talking it out, they got through it.

"We have good family support," Mark said. "We never could have gotten through this without our parents help—financially and especially emotionally."

Each set of parents took turns helping out on weekends.

Heeding the doctors' advice, Laura returned to work in September.

"I had planned to change schools," she said, "but because of the difficulties, my doctors decided it wouldn't be possible to take on a new job at that time."

Laura decided to teach fifth grade because she would be teaching the same children she had the previous year and thought it would be easier. But things didn't improve.

"I couldn't remember the new kids' names," she said. "I still couldn't grade papers because I couldn't add, and I'd transpose the numbers. I'd set up a parent-teacher conference but when they showed up I'd be surprised. I couldn't remember that I had even talked to them on the phone..."

It was a constant struggle even with her co-workers and aides helping.

"By the end of the day, she would be in such pain she'd be in a wheel chair at work," Mark said.

The migraines got worse. By October she was constantly in pain and nauseated. She had to let the aides take over her class.

"It was easier to try to get through the day then to try to make plans for the substitutes," she said.

By December, the migraines were constant and she couldn't keep food down. She was admitted to the hospital for dehydration and nutrition problems. She was getting better physically but was beginning to realize the extent of her cognitive difficulties.

She was referred to a clinical psychologist who had training in neuropsychology.

It was she who recognized the signs of a brain injury—post-concussive syndrome. Laura had to take a leave of absence so she could work with her therapist and the doctors.

The accident has completely altered their lives.

"Instead of going out with friends, we're more like hermits," Mark said, explaining what a day is like for Laura.

Everything has to be written down into a planner, which she keeps with her everywhere she goes. It tells her how to get places, when to go and why.

"They call it (her planner) the right side of my brain," she said.

In addition to her notebook, their house has signs to remind her what to do.

"She can't miss these signs," Mark said. "They are big signs—pink, fluorescent signs. You'd have to be blind to miss them."

There is a laminated sign in the shower that details every step: rinse hair, apply shampoo, scrub, rinse out shampoo, apply conditioner, rinse out conditioner. There's a sign that tells how to brush her teeth. Mark said that they are going to tackle the kitchen next.

Laura also has sticky notes and cards posted to tell her what to do, when to do it and how to do it. There are notes on how to do the laundry and how to get dressed (pants go before shoes).

Over stimulation is still a problem. She can't go shopping for groceries. She can't go shopping for clothes. She can't go dancing or do many of the other activities that she once enjoyed.

"If we go out to eat, we need a corner seat in the restaurant, and two hours is her limit in public," Mark said.

"There's too much to look at and it becomes overwhelming," she said.

She can socialize with two people for a couple of hours, but one hour is the maximum she can handle with four people, and she still has to leave the room from time to time to rest. Mark quietly suggests she go upstairs for a little while."

The medical term for Laura's condition is Cognitive Disorder NOS (not otherwise specified). There is a significant drop in her intellectual functioning that is likely to be permanent. While Ritalin helps her focus, she probably will never read or teach again.

"A job is possible," Mark said, "if the conditions are right—night hours in a quiet environment."

In April of this year Laura began tutoring a young child at the Sylvan Learning Center for one hour, twice a week.

"It's part of her therapy," Mark said, "but it could become permanent. They're trying to increase it to three days a week. Her short-term memory is her only problem, her long-term memory is even better than mine."

Therapy includes accepting that their lives are very different and telling people about it instead of trying to hide it.

While Laura and Mark are not the same they were when they became engaged, their love hasn't changed. Indeed, it may have deepened. For it's their love that has brought them out of the depths of despair and given them hope for a better tomorrow.

Bloomsgurg Magazine Introduces Gov. Mark Schweiker '75

Get to know Bloomsgurg alumnus and Pennsylvania's 44th Governor Mark Schweiker in the next issue of Bloomsgurg: The University Magazine.

Schweiker is the first graduate of one of the modern universities in the State System of Higher Education to become the Keystone State's chief executive. He has pledged to serve only the 15 months remaining in Tom Ridge's term when the former governor was named director of the Office of Homeland Security.

Schweiker, who frequently returns to Bloomsgurg University, lauds the education he received. "I don't recall one prof or instructor that I felt left me high and dry," he says. "There was a positive energy about all of the adults with whom I had contact that I found to be supportive, a memorable dynamic."

For the complete story, see Bloomsgurg: The University Magazine, arriving in alumni mailboxes about March 1.

Student Athlete Raffle

The Husky Club Student Athlete Raffle was held Friday, December 7, in the Nelson Fieldhouse Conference Room. Student athletes were asked to sell ten tickets at $5 each or five for $20. Proceeds from the sale of these tickets benefit each individual team. Tickets were mailed to Husky Club donors and proceeds benefit the General Athletic Scholarship Fund.

Three winners were chosen:

$1000 – Robin Sweeney of Jessup

$500 – Teri Bennecoff of Fleetwood

$250 – Francis Dudziak of Camp Hill

New Challenges, New Opportunities $15 million goal within reach

With less than six months to the conclusion of New Challenges, New Opportunities: The Campaign for Bloomsburg University, the majority of campaign initiatives have been met or exceeded. Alumni, parents, friends, corporations, and foundations have been very supportive of the many projects. However, to complete the campaign successfully, approximately $1.7 million is needed to meet fully each sub-goal.

Gifts and pledges may be contributed at any time. The pledge installments may extend through December 31, 2006. Donors of $1,500 or greater will have their names inscribed on a glass panel in the wall of recognition located inside the main entrance to the Student Services Center (Gifts made since January 1, 1998 are counted toward the $1,500 minimum.)

New faces and changes in development

G. Michael Vavrek was named Interim Executive Director of The Bloomsburg University Foundation, Inc., as of July 2001, replacing Anthony M. Ianiero. Vavrek joined Bloomsburg University in 1989 as Dean of Continuing Education and has represented the university in many regional development projects.

Elena Lockard was promoted in August from Researcher to Development Coordinator. In her new assignment, she supervises the annual alumni and parents phonothons and works with class officers to obtain the senior class gifts. Lockard also continues her donor research responsibilities.

Diane Wallick joined the development team in November as Office Assistant. In addition to clerical duties, Wallick works with the donor recognition program and record updating.

James Fiamoncini recently began transitioning into Peg Trathen's position as fiscal assistant – or more commonly understood as the computer "guru" for the office. Fiamoncini oversees the database management, generates queries and reports, reconciles development-related accounting activity, and provides requested data to the State System of Higher Education and various university administrators as needed.

Margaret "Peg" Trathen will retire as of Feb. 1. Peg helped the development office change from a paper record keeping system through the DOS era of computing and later to MSWindows and the current multi-faceted, inter-relational database which holds more than 60,000 records. Coming to development in 1986 from her position as bookkeeper for the Bloomsburg University Alumni Association, Trathen will continue to serve the Alumni Association as its bookkeeper.

Honor Roll Note

The 2001 six-month Honor Roll lists donors who contributed to The Bloomsburg University Foundation between January 1 and June 30, 2001. We regret any omissions or inaccuracies. Since the Foundation is now on a fiscal year accounting basis, the next Honor Roll, which recognizes gifts made between July 1, 2001 and June 30, 2002 will be published in January 2003.

Outdoor sculpture gifts recognized by historian

Thomas McEvilley, distinguished visiting lecturer in art history at Rice University, visited campus in October as part of the university's Provost Lecture Series and to help recognize the gifts of Muriel M. Berman and her late husband, Philip I. Berman.

A late afternoon walking tour to view and discuss five large outdoor sculptures was followed by Dr. McEvilley's slide-illustrated lecture, Inside Out: Public Sculpture and the Private Mind.

Muriel and Philip Berman gave Bloomsburg University 16 prints and six sculptures in 1989. Four additional sculptures were donated by Mrs. Berman in 1998. For specific information about the art, contact the Art Department, 570-389-1616 or e-mail town@bloomu.edu.

Eileen Evert, a graduate student in interactive technology, tests one of the new music listening stations in Andrus Library

Friends of The Bloomsburg University Library Association

by Charles Carlson

Since our last report about the programs and activities of the Friends of the Bloomsburg University Library Association, a number of things have taken place.

In July 2001, we reported that because of the generosity of two donors, the Friends were able to provide funding for the purchase of two music listening stations. At the same time, the library ordered two additional listening stations. Now, all four listening stations have been installed and are operational. Students may listen to long-playing records, compact disks, and the like without disturbing others nearby. The goal is to have 12 listening stations available for use in the library.

Friends of the Library has authorized funds to purchase the 1930 Census microfilms for the Bloomsburg University library. (There is a period of 72 years between the census year and the release of the data.) This acquisition will encompass Columbia, Luzerne, Lycoming, Montom, Northumberland, Schuylkill, Snyder, Sullivan, and Union Counties.

To help celebrate the Town of Bloomsburg's bicentennial in 2002, the 2001-02 Friends of the Library program series includes four presentations focusing on small towns. Last fall, Faculty Emeritus George Turner talked about "Why Is Bloomsburg The Only Town In Pennsylvania?" and Faculty Emeritus Ronald Fendock spoke on the subject of "Old Time Radio: Scary Isn't Just For Halloween." Faculty Emeritus William Armino, will present the film "The Molly Maguires" on March 3, 2002, at 1 p.m. The concluding program, April 7, 2002, at 2 p.m., will be Professor Andy Waskie in the persona of General George Meade talking about the Civil War. All programs are held in the Gathering Room of the Harvey A. Andrus Library and are open to the public.

In March, the Friends will hold a Used Book Sale to raise money to support library projects. The sale last year was very successful, and members are hoping for a similar result this year. If you wish to join the Friends or have comments, please communicate with us at 570-384-4343.

Dinner with Hale

Thursday evening dinners with Head Coach Danny Hale highlighted the football season September to November. Coach Hale, a member of the football team, and assistant football coaches talked informally about the highlights of the previous game and challenges of the upcoming game. Those attending thoroughly enjoyed interaction and discussion – as well as the opportunity to choose dinner from among the varied food stations in the newly renovated William W. Scranton Commons. Contact the Development Office next fall for information about the Dinner with Hale.

Foundation exec Ianiero resigns

Anthony M. Ianiero, Executive Director of The Bloomsburg University Foundation Inc., resigned in July to become Executive Vice President for Operations at the Bloomsburg Medical Corporation.

Ianiero joined the university in 1984 to begin a development program and to reactivate the foundation board. Three successful fundraising campaigns were initiated during his tenure:

• The Trust for Generations ($3.5 million for the library, scholarships, and academic equipment);

• A Treasury of Ideas ($3.375 million for library construction); and

• New Challenges, New Opportunities: The Campaign for Bloomsburg University ($11 million - increased to $15 million - for the Student Services Center, scholarships, and special projects).

Under Ianiero's leadership approximately $35 million was raised from private sources, and the assets of the foundation were built to more than $9.9 million.

Player-of-the-Year honored by Husky Club

Bloomsburg's Husky Club of presented former softball player Erica Miller with a commemorative ring at its November board meeting. The ring was given to Miller in honor of her being named National Division II Softball Player of the Year for the 2001 season. In addition to Player-of-the-Year, Miller was the Division II softball nominee for the Honda-Broderick Award, symbolizing the nation's top female athlete. During the 2001 season, Miller hit .477 with 17 homers and 52 RBI. She had 20 doubles, 144 total bases and a .966 slugging percentage. Miller helped lead the Huskies to a 44-7 record, the PSAC championship, and a fourth place at the NCAA Division II national championships.

Husky Club Report

Raffles

The Student-Tuition Raffle drawing held August 24th, raised more than $22,000 to benefit the General Athletic Scholarship Fund. The first-place winner of $2,000 was Marbeth Scheincke '05, a freshman from Philadelphia, PA, an audiology and speech pathology major. Three "early bird" drawings were held with each winner receiving a $250 gift certificate from the University Bookstore. Five tickets ($5 each or 5 for $20) were mailed to parents of all underclass students and to all graduate students (Photo of Scheincke)

The Student-Athlete Raffle drawing was held Dec. 7. Winners of cash gifts were Robin Sweeney, Jessup - $1,000; Ten Bennercoff, Fleetwood - $500; and Francis Dudziak, Camp Hill - $250.

A total of $17,299 was raised. Raffle proceeds directly benefit each team. The baseball team sold the most tickets - $5,560, followed by football, $2,145, and Men's and Women's Cross Country and Track, $1,110. Proceeds from Husky Club donors will benefit the General Athletic Scholarship Fund. Student-Athletes sold 10 tickets at $5 each or 5 for $20.

Golf Outings

Over $2,000 was raised for the General Athletic Scholarship Fund when 42 golfers attended the Spring golf event, May 18, 2001 at Edgewood in the Pines, Drums.

The John S. Devlin Memorial Celebrity Golf Classic, held June 2, 2001 at Willow Run Inn and Golf Course raised over $18,000 for the John S. Devlin Memorial Football Scholarship. Celebrity golfers signed autographs for local fans. Numerous local businesses and merchants donated items for the raffle, and sports celebrities provided items for the silent auction. Many volunteers worked countless hours to assure the success of the tournament.

The Fall golf outing, October 11, 2001, at Frosty Valley Country Club, Danville, generated more than $3,700 for the General Athletic Scholarship when 79 golfers enjoyed the sunshine-filled day. The winning foursome was Charlie Chromister, Howard McKinnon, Jeff McKinnon and Rich Beierschmitt '70.

Making the calls are: Chris Brown '03, Chris Turner '04, Sonya Bownian, Christine Houser '02, and Erica Bowman '04 with Jennifer Matthews '03.

Parents' Phonothon tops $80,000

By Jennifer Bettine '03
(Editor's note: Jennifer is a phonothon supervisor this year. She is a junior secondary education-mathematics major from Treckow, Pa.)

An excellent university doesn't just provide a top-notch education.

Today's modern college must produce well-rounded students who not only achieve passing grades in required courses, but also a solid foundation in extracurricular areas.

That's where New Challenges, New Opportunities: The Campaign for Bloomsburg University comes in. The campaign supports scholarships for students who otherwise cannot afford a quality education, and it helps to fund faculty-student research programs.

Additionally, this campaign helped defray the cost of the renovation of the old library into a new Student Services Center. This modern facility brings together different aspects of student life, including classrooms, computer labs, conference rooms, a cafe, and more.

The 2001 Parents' Fund is an integral part of the campaign that allows parents to support the school—while their children attend the school.

For one month student development officers contact parents every Sunday through Thursday from 6 to 9 p.m. for the Parents' Phonothon. Each evening, approximately 15 student officers hope to talk with at least 25 parents. Altogether, 45 students, two student supervisors, and a development advisor coordinate information and paperwork—and make sure those conducting the phonothon represent the best Bloomsburg University has to offer.

Exceeding the goal of $80,000, parents pledged $81,341 during the 2001 phonothon. Most of the funds were designated for the Student Services Center.

"The feeling one gets when a parent makes a donation to the school is unexplainable," said Alexie Kupka '01, a student development officer.

"To know they are supporting not just any student, but their own children is pretty amazing."

Lori Vetter '02 added, "Knowing that the money these parents give is going right to Bloomsburg University programs makes this worthwhile. Each successful call brings the university one step closer to reaching its goal."

New Scholarships

James E. Cole Scholarship—A professor in the department of biology and allied health from 1968 to 2001, this scholarship was established in Jim's honor by his friends and former students.

Michael R. Clovas Scholarship—Established by Michael R. Clovas, Class of 1986, this scholarship will be awarded to a member of the football team from the Lehigh Valley area.

Jack Mertz Scholarship—The accounting department endowment supports scholarships for accounting majors. The endowment was created with funds from two matured charitable gift annuities that were established by the late Jack L. Mertz '42.

Teachers continue in their craft—in Romania

JoAnne and Joanne have spent the past two summers in Deva, Romania teaching conversational English to students ages 12 to 15 at the Andrei Muresanu School. Their teaching experiences have been sponsored by Teachers for Tomorrow, an organization that sends teaching teams to areas of Romania and India each year.

JoAnne Growney retired from Bloomsburg University in 1997 where she taught math for 28 years. She is currently completing a master of fine arts degree in creative writing (poetry) at Hunter College, CUNY. Joanne Shaffer Pileski '64, retired from the Bloomsburg School District after 31 years as an elementary teacher. She is currently a member of the BU Alumni Board of Directors.

Excerpts from Joanne Pileski's 2001 journal tell of their experiences:

Sunday, July 8

When our plane landed in Timisoara, Romania, my luggage was searched. An airport official insisted that I open the manila envelopes containing the letters that my granddaughter's third grade class had written for Romanian students. As last year, it is such a relief to leave that heavily guarded airport.

The three-hour ride from the airport to Deva was nostalgic. The countryside is so beautiful. Women are still leading cows from the pasture and chickens and geese are still on the front lawns. We passed countless horse drawn hay wagons.

So much of Romania reminds me of life in the States in the late '30s and '40s.

Tuesday, July 10

We arrived at school yesterday to a greeting that was overwhelming! Students brought flowers, gifts and stood when we entered the classroom. Many students have returned to our classes from last year and seemed so excited that we have come back to Romania.

The pattern after class is the same as last year. We are taken to the home of a different student each day for a huge meal. (I compare it to a Thanksgiving Dinner and we have a meal of this size each day of the week!!) Along with the meal, each family likes to make a toast with their favorite home brew called tuica. This is a brandy made from plums or apples—very powerful stuff and they like to toast more than once. Today our host made a lengthy toast that our translator told us meant if we did not drink it in one gulp, evil spirits would enter the home. Since I can only handle a sip at a time, I am fearful that many evil spirits are alive and well in the Romanian homes that I am visiting.

Wednesday, July 11

We have established a schedule for a typical day:

Rise and shine at 6:00 a.m.

Breakfast with our hostess, Ana. Today's breakfast was spaghetti noodles in warm milk with honey.

Walk 20 minutes to school

Teach two classes of English

Go to the school's computer lab to help students learn to use the internet which has been provided by funds from JoAnne Growney and friends.

Spend time with a student's family. This is time usually spent in their home and on a planned excursion to a local attraction or business.

More tuica at Ana's

Bed around 10:00 p.m. followed by weird dreams due to the tuica!!

Thursday, July 12

During our visits to the homes, we hear many different political views. Romania still does not belong to NATO or the European Union (EU). They would benefit economically if accepted, however, they are not being considered since they do not meet the requirements. Ironically, the requirements are a sound economy, low unemployment, better roads, etc. Inflation is worse this year than last. The exchange is 28,000 lei to $1. Last year it was 20,000 lei to $1. Last year the interest rate on loans was 80%; this year it has gone down to 60%. Most people say that they do not trust the banks and would not borrow even if they could. There still seems to be a profound mistrust in the infrastructure of the government and talk of bribing officials for jobs. We still hear people say they miss the security of communism.

One host was not eager to belong to the EU and was also critical of the Teachers for Tomorrow program. He said he did not want everyone in his country speaking English and eating hamburgers at McDonald's. He felt the traditions of his country were threatened.

He mentioned a theory that I have also observed: the world seems to be more homogenized. I went to Poland and expected to see and hear polka music and instead only heard the Backstreet Boys. And when I was in Beijing, we ate at the Hard Rock Cafe. It is sad to think that these changes from tradition are often a result of being too materialistic.

Friday, July 13

Today in class the students asked me about Los Angeles and Las Vegas. These are places that they have heard about on television. Our discussion continued about their impressions of the United States. Comments ranged from: everyone is rich in the US, to there is much crime and the people are always under pressure. All these thoughts are from the influence of TV.

Saturday, July 14

We spent the weekend in the hills of Transylvania. It was quite a relief from the heat, humidity, pollution and the dogs of Deva. Did I tell you about the Romanian dogs? Every village and city in Romania has hundreds of ownerless dogs that roam the streets and bark all night. A pack of five or six dogs of different breeds will travel together. If another dog enters their territory, they fight like crazy.

The dogs are not dangerous, but are a dirty nuisance. However, the people in the blocks don't mind at all and actually feed them. Ana even sends her leftovers to school with us to give the dogs around the building. We heard that in Bucharest the government is poisoning the dogs and also taking beggars out of the city in order to attract international investments. These decisions have not yet reached Deva.

When we returned to the city, it was hotter than when we left! What a night! Of course there is no air conditioning. The dogs barked all night and the Romanian roosters don't wait until dawn, they crow all night. The windows have no screens and I was a feast for mosquitoes and black flies. I am reminded of a Bill Bryson quote: "I am not saying all this to make you sorry for me, though sympathy is always welcome!"

Monday, July 16

When we go to the homes of students, I start to understand why I come to this country. When I see the pride in the parents' faces that their children are speaking English, it makes this teaching experience so rewarding.

Last night we went to the home of a wonderful student and the poverty in which he was living made me very sad. However, when we were about to leave, his father said that they were so sorry that they could not give us more—but what they gave us came from their hearts.

One day last week, a grandmother of one of the students actually cried as she hugged and thanked us for teaching her granddaughter English. (At least this is the explanation our translator gave us for her tears. Not knowing the language ourselves keeps us humble and we survive with a sense of humor.)

Two Grads on Guam

The Island of Guam, "where America's day begins," is also where the day begins for two Bloomsburg alumnae. Kelly A. Williams-Sitkowski '87 and Marybeth Duffin-Torres '79 and '80 live and work on the small island in the Southwest Pacific, a long way from their roots in Pennsylvania and their days at BU. Guam is an American Territory located in the Marianas Islands chain, located about three hours flight time south of Japan.

Kelly, a Lieutenant Commander in the U.S. Navy, is an audiologist at the U.S. Naval Hospital where she has worked for three and a half years. Marybeth has worked in speech pathology for 12 years for the Guam Department of Education. Both are graduates of BU's Communication Disorders Department and they found each other purely by accident!

Small world

One day Marybeth received a call at work from Kelly, who identified herself as an audiologist at Naval Hospital. Kelly had tested a high school student and wanted to know if the department of education was aware of the student's special aural rehabilitation needs. They found themselves talking for quite a while.

"We just hit it off right away," says Marybeth, "even talking about getting a group of professionals in related fields together for networking." The conversation eventually turned to the topics of hometowns and educational backgrounds.

"Imagine our surprise when we each named our alma mater! We just couldn't believe the coincidence," said Marybeth. "Talk about a small world: two BU Communication Disorders grads, both from Pennsylvania. Needless to say, we found that we had a lot in common and knew that we had to meet as soon as we could."

A lunch date quickly followed and, of course, they had lots to talk about. Kelly and Marybeth shared memories of Bloomsburg, their professors, how they had come to Guam, their jobs, how much they enjoyed island life and a lot more.

That was several years ago, and their friendship has grown. The alums have a chance to share work-related opportunities as well as get together outside of work to enjoy the joys of living in a tropical paradise.

"We are thankful that we found out about each other soon after Kelly's arrival on the island. Although we were seven years apart at BU, we share lots of memories of those days," said Marybeth. "Now we enjoy every chance we get to make new memories."

Marybeth's story

After earning a master's degree in 1980, Marybeth worked for eight years as a speech pathologist in the North Penn School District as an employee of the Montgomery County Intermediate Unit. While she found the work satisfying, something told her that there was a special opportunity out there. She decided to check out job options around the country and overseas.

Although she was concentrating her search on the West Coast, she happened to spot a small ad in the back of a professional journal for speech pathologists in Guam. This was the chance she had been looking for!

"I had heard about Guam while growing up, since my father was stationed there during World War II," said Marybeth. "I started doing some research and found the island and its history intriguing. The more I read, the more I knew that I had to give it a try."

"I knew it was a big leap of faith—leaving family and friends, a job I really liked, the place I had called home all of my life. But I also knew that if I didn't do it then, I probably would never do it."

That was August 1988. Marybeth knew that she couldn't wait an entire school year to make the move or she would lose her nerve. She started the ball rolling immediately by applying for the position. Her goal was to be in Guam for the start of the second semester. To her surprise she found an enormous amount of support from family, friends and coworkers when she shared her goals with them.

"I guess I thought a lot of people would try to talk me out of it, saying it was a crazy idea, a big risk, too far away, things like that," she said. "What I found was that they, too, had at one time thought about moving to a far off land, teaching overseas or joining the Peace Corps. Most of them told me they hadn't the courage to follow through and that they had always been sorry. That was just the incentive I needed."

"I left in January 1989 with two suitcases and a lot of hopes and dreams."

Marybeth had planned to stay just a year while on leave of absence from her job in Pennsylvania. But one year turned into two, and two turned into twelve.

"It was the best decision I have ever made," she said. "It has changed my life in so many positive ways. When I think of the opportunities I would have missed, the people I would not have met, the places I would not have traveled to, I just can't imagine it."

She's been fortunate to have traveled to places that would have seemed out of reach in her undergraduate days: Hawaii, Japan, Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand, Singapore, Hong Kong and the islands of Saipan, Yap, Pohnpei and Palau.

Marybeth began as a staff speech pathologist and is now program coordinator for the speech therapy department, supervising 20 pathologists. She is also affiliated with the University of Guam's outreach programs, doing consultation, assessment and training in the Islands of Micronesia.

The challenges are many and the joys even greater. Marybeth says the people of Guam and Micronesia are among the most beautiful in spirit as any she has ever met. She enjoys her work immensely and hopes to spend more years here, further developing programs and continuing work on other Micronesian Islands.

Marybeth met her husband, Victor, while living on Guam. He is a native and of Chamorro descent. He holds a bachelor's in anthropology and a master's in public administration. He works for the government of Guam as a historian in the Historic Preservation Division. They have been married for eight years.

Vic is an avid surfer, windsurfer and fisherman. Marybeth loves the beach, especially snorkeling and scuba diving.

Marybeth is able to get back to Pennsylvania twice a year, once in the summer and again in November following a professional conference. Three flights and 20 hours of flying time is grueling but it continues to be worth it to be able to visit home and maintain ties with family and friends. Marybeth says she has the best of both worlds: maintaining home connections on both sides of the globe.

Dressed in colorful native costume, children of the Island of Yap welcome Marybeth (far right) and another visitor with a cultural dance performance

Kelly's story

Kelly worked as an audiologist in the private sector following a master's degree in 1987. After a few years, she felt that a change was in order. She started exploring the possibility of a career with the military. Her research resulted in her enlistment in the U.S. Navy in 1992.

Assignments have resulted in positions in Naval hospitals in Florida, Japan and now, Guam. She is currently assigned as a clinical audiologist at the Guam U.S. Naval Hospital. As the only audiologist at the hospital, her days are busy with administrative duties as well as providing patient care.

"While the pace is hectic, I love my job and am proud to serve in the United States Military," says Kelly. "I am stationed here with my family, which includes my husband, Ken, and my five year old son, Kenneth Colin (K.C.), who was born during my duty time in Japan."

"We love the Island of Guam, taking advantage of every opportunity to enjoy its warm, tropical temperatures. Every weekend finds us enjoying the beach, snorkeling, swimming, searching for shells and exploring the island's many exciting sites. We have also had the opportunity to travel to lots of exciting locations, including Hong Kong, Hawaii, Rota, Palau and Saipan."

Kelly and her family manage to travel home to Pennsylvania, but not as often as they would like. Her next assignment may possibly be on the East Coast, which will provide more opportunities to visit home and catch up with family and friends.

"I agree with Marybeth that Guam is a fantastic place to live and practice audiology," says Kelly. "So if you have an adventurous spirit and want a unique experience, consider being a Navy audiologist or working overseas where you will make a difference!"

Thinking back to their days at BU, sometimes it seems like only yesterday, sometimes it seems like a lifetime ago. Fond memories of people, places and events remain strong and will stay with Kelly and Marybeth, no matter where they travel. Both feel very lucky to have had the opportunity to experience different cultures and to have met one another.

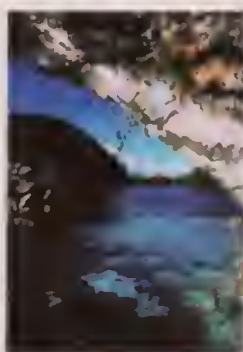

"It's one thing to tell other BU alumni about our island home, but even better to actually share that journey with one another right here," they say. "It's nice to know that you can travel as far away as somewhere like Guam and still have the possibility of running into another BU grad."

Kelly (KellyWilliams29@yahoo.com) and Marybeth (torresmya@att.net) would be happy to correspond with alumni interested in speech pathology and audiology with the Navy or the Guam School System

Where America's Day Begins

Guam, in the time zone 15 hours ahead of the U.S. East Coast, is the first American community to greet each new day.

It's the largest and southern most island of the Mariana Island chain, approximately 3,700 miles west-southwest of Honolulu. The western most possession of the U. S., it is a self-governing territory.

Guam's location 900 miles north of the equator gives it a tropical climate with daily temperatures averaging 81 degrees. The island covers an area of approximately 212 square miles; it's about 30 miles long and 4 to 9 miles wide.

The island is made up of volcanic hills, limestone plateaus with steep cliffs and a narrow coastal shelf. It is lush and green with many exotic flowers and delicious fruits.

Guam's main industry is tourism, welcoming more than a million visitors a year from Japan, Korea, China, the Philippines, Australia, the U.S. Mainland and other islands of Micronesia. Beaches abound and the water is both warm and crystal clear with an average temperature of 80 degrees. Scuba diving, snorkeling, windsurfing, jet skiing and fishing are popular.

Known as the flying judge

Although presiding over a case in another part of the state might seem like a hothouse for someone else in his position, Northumberland County Senior Judge Feudale thinks the long commute is the best part. Barry F. Feudale '72 uses a non-traditional means of transportation, a Cessna Skyhawk, his single-engine plane.

"I'm known as the flying judge," he said, although he prefers the designation circuit rider. (Is that because he sometimes travels by Harley Davidson Super Glide?)

As Senior Judge he's appointed by the Supreme Court to handle a variety of cases ranging from the routine to the complex and controversial. He's often assigned to fill in where there is a vacancy due to retirement, resignation, illness or vacation. In many instances he's assigned due to recusal of the bench.

Barry has set a personal goal of hearing a case in each of Pennsylvania's 67 counties and so far he's served in 55. His goal may be hard to meet, though, because some counties have their own senior judge and don't need one to fly in. But it's a fun goal to work toward.

"As I travel around the state, I keep a little diary of observations," he said. He takes aerial photos of the courthouses and rates them on architecture. He makes a note of the quality of the pizza in town. "Nothing mean-spirited, of course. I'm just waiting to see which is my favorite county," he joked.

Flying to and from work has a big advantage when hearing cases that don't take all day. "I'm out and back before my kids get home from school," Barry said.

However, there are logistical problems. He can't land his plane next to the courthouse and he doesn't have a car when he lands. If the courthouse is less than three miles from the airport, he walks. If it's farther, he uses a courtesy car, seeks a ride from another pilot or asks someone from the courthouse to pick him up in exchange for a ride in the plane. There's usually always someone willing to take advantage of that trade!

He also sits in his home county one week a month handling all the cases involving child abuse/dependency and termination of parental rights.

In addition, Barry teaches courses for the Pennsylvania Bar Institute Training Program. In the past year, he's lectured on child abuse and neglect as well as the role of guardians for children.

Barry enlisted in the Navy and served in Vietnam after graduation from Our Lady of Lourdes High School, Shamokin, in 1964. He attended Shippensburg for a year and then graduated from Bloomsburg with a bachelor's in education/comprehensive social studies in 1972.

"I was a commuter, the guy sitting in the back of the classroom shivering and/or drenched," quipped Barry. His transportation at that time was a 305cc Honda Dream motorcycle.

After graduation he substituted in Shamokin schools, instructed inmates in basic education at Allenwood Prison Camp and worked three and a half years for the Northumberland County Child Welfare Agency. While investigating and testifying in cases of physical and sexual abuse for the county, he earned 27 credits toward his master's degree in social work at Marywood College.

At age 30, he attended the University of Bridgeport (now Quinnipiac) School of Law and graduated in the top 10% of his class. In 1989, the University of Bridgeport honored him with their Distinguished Alumni Award.

After law school, he returned to Northumberland County as law clerk to President Judge Peter Krehl. He next served as solicitor of Northumberland County Children and Youth Services. While engaged in general law practice in Shamokin from 1981 to 1987, he also served as Chief Public Defender of Northumberland County (1984-87).

Barry was elected to a ten-year term as judge on the Northumberland County Court of Common Pleas and was sworn in on January 4, 1988. He was appointed president judge by the PA Supreme Court in January 1996 and senior judge in January 1998. He is currently the youngest senior judge in the state.

In August, just for the joy of it, Barry organized a group of 22 kindred spirits for a day of tandem jumps over Hazleton with the Northeast Ripcords. Barry is the guy on the bottom. And who took the picture?!

Barry is a licensed pilot and a certified scuba diver. He also enjoys hot air ballooning, white water rafting, rappelling, skydiving and camping with his family.

His association with Bloomsburg University continues through the Quest outdoor experiential program including some high altitude mountain climbing in the Himalayas and Andes. In early January, he and five friends trekked and climbed in Ecuador.

Barry is an active volunteer as room father, guest lecturer and fill-in teacher in the school his youngest son, Michael, attends. Most popular with the students is his sharing of stories and photos from his many trips, even tape recordings of wild animal sounds! Eight-year-old, Michael thinks his dad is the all-time best, not because of Barry's prestigious judicial position, of course, but because of those monkey calls and other stuff on tape!

Barry's older son, Matthew, 16, has accompanied him on some of his trekking. This semester they took their slide show, "Mexico, Monarchs and Matthew, Too" to Kiwanis Club and local elementary and high schools.

Barry and his wife, Violette, live in Coal Township with their two sons.

Edgar H. Emery Jr. '80 is listed as missing after the World Trade Center disaster but members of his family realize that the vice president of human resources for Fiduciary Trust Co. International is most likely dead.

The Sunbury native was at work in the South Tower above the place where the hijacked jetliner crashed into the building on September 11.

His sister, Donna Wallich of Harpers Ferry, WV, said he had been scheduled for a morning meeting on the 97th floor. A co-worker said that Edgar, 45, helped fellow employees make it to an elevator on the 78th floor. He was encouraged to get out of the building but he and his boss went back up to help others, she said.

Franklin Templeton, the company of which Fiduciary Trust is a part, says 560 of its 647 Trade Center employees have been accounted for; 87 are listed as missing or confirmed dead.

On September 11, Edgar called his wife, Elizabeth, at their home in Clifton, NJ. He told her he was on the 90th floor, saw smoke and flames and he loved her. He was not heard from after that.

Brenda Emery '94, wife of his cousin, said Edgar was there during the bombing of the Trade Center in 1993. The family believes he was again focused only on helping co-workers get to safety.

In addition to his bachelor's degree from Bloomsburg, Edgar held a master's from Stevens Institute in New Jersey.

Edgar and Elizabeth have one son, Brian.

GREAT-GRANDSON TO ENROLL - Margie Harrison Gregory '31 is delighted that her great-grandson, Bill Shepardson, will enroll as a freshman at BU this fall. Bill was recruited for both cross country and track. Mrs. Gregory recalls that her step-mother discouraged her from attending college, so she borrowed money from an uncle. Later, she helped her sister go to college by loaning her money. While at Bloomsburg, Mrs. Gregory participated in the various club sports for women. Also shown is Jeri Winters Stafford '93, Mrs. Gregory's granddaughter and Bill's aunt.

Model/Training/Lab School Reunion planned for Alumni Weekend 2002

10 a.m. Saturday, May 4, before the Alumni Luncheon

If you attended elementary school in the Noetling Hall or Ben Franklin Training School, plan to meet and reminisce with your classmates. A location on campus will be chosen as soon as we get an idea of how many former students are interested.

Reunion information will be mailed in early February. Be sure we have your address. Let us know if you have addresses for friends, too! Contact the Alumni Office at 570-389-4058, 800-526-0254, alum@bloomu.edu or Fenstermaker Alumni House, Bloomsburg University, 400 East Second Street, Bloomsburg PA 17815.

Who remembers?

by Frank Kocher '40 BSTC and 1926-30 Training School student

◆ In Noetling Hall the stairway to the second floor was wooden and its banister was a lovely temptation. Miss Carpenter was ever watchful, but still there were many stolen slides, probably by some college students as well as by boys and maybe girls.

◆ Each week students made a weekly trek to the library on the second floor of Waller Hall. There we saw Miss Mason behind the counter, with her pencil-cum dating stamp behind her ear and two perfect circles of very red rouge on her cheeks. What threats of expulsion and other dire penalties were uttered to any potential little naise-makers!

◆ A battered old Gulbransen studio piano from the gym was moved outside for the maypole winding each May Day. Gerald Hartman, a BSTC alum and teacher in the Catawissa High School, was imported to play it because none of Mrs. Miller's pupils could keep time to suit Miss McCammon. The music was always the same every year, for every class, "Amaryllis." We rehearsed at recess time when we would rather have been playing games.

Bloomsburg Literary Institute provided space for a model school in the original dormitory building from the time of its completion in 1869 until it burned in 1875.

The catalog for 1868-1869 states that the model school course was designed to "afford those attending it as pupils the very best instruction, and to place before the normals (Institute students) correct models of methods of instruction and school management as was practicable."

The first elementary school erected on the campus was a one-story, white clapboard building known as Henlock Hall. It was located north of Carver Hall on the present site of the Schuylkill (formerly West) Hall, and built in 1875 soon after the fire.

In 1886 Normal Hall, later known as Noetling Hall, was built to house the model school. The two-story, 26-room, brick building included 20 recreation rooms, each accommodating five or six children, the student teacher and an observer.

William B. Suthill who served the college for many years at both instructional and administrative levels observed, "It never seemed to occur to the faculty or trustees that student teaching in a regular classroom under normal conditions may have been a better plan."

From 1930 until 1967, Ben Franklin served as the laboratory school for student teachers. Here BSTC and then BSC students practiced their future craft in larger rooms with classes of 26 to 29 students and an elementary department faculty member.

This 1921 photograph shows a class in Noetling Hall, built in 1886 to house the training school. It was located where the William W. Scranton Commons now stands.

Students play on a merry-go-round in the old training school playground in 1947. Navy Hall can be seen in the background. Luzerne Hall is now located on the site.

Chapter garage sale

For the eighth consecutive year, Wyoming Valley Chapter awarded book scholarships to incoming area freshmen, thanks to another successful garage sale.

The certificates to the University Store were awarded by drawing at the combined alumni family picnic and freshmen send-off at Kirby Park on August 15, 2001.

Winners were Tiffany Venditti, Berwick High School graduate, $100; Gina Marino, Meyers High School, $50; and Lisa Cornelius, Berwick High School, $50.

The garage sale was held at the Pittston home of Nancy Donheim Stalma '70 on July 21, 2001. Other alumni helping with the sale were Pat McAndrew '70, chapter president, Sandy Smith McAndrew '70, Susan Gottlieb Bechetti '74, Suzanne Cromack McCabe '77, Diane Barbich Cosgrove '67, Frank Haduck '69, Michael Fereck '75, Angela Zuba Metzger '87 and Nancy Swartz Lychos '52.

The committee is especially grateful for the assistance given by Dan and Dana Bechetti. The chapter also appreciates the "treasures" donated to the sale by Dong Hippenstiel '68, Rich Duffy '71 and friends and family members.

Alumni Weekend 2002 ~ May 2-4

DONALD VANNAN, retired BU professor and former Lab School teacher, presented remarks on the history of the schools on campus where student teachers practiced their future craft. The crowd, which spilled out into the hall from classroom 9 on the second floor, was eager to hear the facts and interesting trivia he had gathered. In addition to former students, several former teachers and student teachers also attended the reunion. Although space was tight, everyone appreciated holding the gathering in a classroom they remembered!

PHOTOS AND MEMORABILIA from the university archives as well as items loaned by former students were on display at the reunion. Many memories were shared among former students, quite a few fueled by the pictures from the past. Bob Dunkelberger (left), archivist and creator of the university display, was on hand as a resource.

They earned this recognition in 2001 by attending a regional alumni event, by returning to campus for either Alumni Weekend or Homecoming and by making a contribution to the Alumni Association or the Bloomsburg University Foundation. Attending both Alumni Weekend and Homecoming can substitute for a regional alumni event, since the latter are not held in all areas every year.

The award honors the late Richard E. Grimes '49, a retired teacher from Harrisburg, who missed only two Homecomings (1954 and 1998 due to illness) and not a single Alumni Weekend from 1949 to 1998. He did this despite not having a driver's license. He earned life-time status on the Alumni Board of Directors in 1994 after completing a total of 14 years of service.

We salute the following alumni who are recipients of the 2001 awards (number of consecutive years in parentheses):

Carl Poff '79 has resigned as head wrestling coach at Lock Haven University after 12 years and 13 All-Americans with the Bald Eagles. He will pursue a full-time faculty position at LHU, but he said his main reason for the resignation was to spend more time with his family. He and his wife, Sharon, are parents of three children, Casey, 12, Corey, 10, and Tanner, 4.

"This was my 23rd year at the Division I level," Carl said of his coaching career, which included stops as an assistant at North Carolina and Bloomsburg. "So (wrestling) has been my whole life, and it's very difficult to walk away. I just feel that my children are at the ages where they're very involved in activities and as a coach, it's been very difficult to make it to those events. The weekends are generally tied up, and I haven't been able to be there for them, so family weighed heavily on my decision."

Carl took over a program that was on NCAA probation prior to the start of his coaching tenure and finished with 13 All-Americans, including two-time Division I national champion Cary Kolat, now an LHU assistant coach. Carl also became the Bald Eagles' all-time wins leader with a 17-4 mark in 2002, finishing his career at 167-62-3.

In his career, Carl has clipped double digits in the win column for 11 straight seasons and has coached 80 NCAA qualifiers. His teams eclipsed the 17-win dual mark three times in his 12 years and also the 14-win and 15-win marks, while his 21-2 record in 2001 is the school record. He coached eight NCAA qualifiers in two different seasons (1992 and 1996), another school record, and he's sent seven wrestlers to the big show an additional six times (1995, 1997, 1998, 1999, 2001 and 2002). (APR02)

Andrew Hilla '79, after working in the pharmacy field for more than 14 years, has been called to serve the Lord in ministry. He is enrolled at Lancaster Theological Seminary as a full-time student and is about to finish the first of a three-year Master of Divinity program.

Any prayers and notes of support would be greatly appreciated during these wonderful but difficult three years. Correspondence can be directed to the seminary at 555 West James Street, Lancaster PA 17603. (APR02)

Edward Peifer '79 has been named partner at Long Barrell & Co., St. Lawrence.

He formerly served as the firm's accounting and auditing manager. (APR02)

Lawrence Mussoline Jr. '79 has been named superintendent of the Northampton Area School District, effective July 1, 2002.

He currently is superintendent of the Pine Grove School District. He previously was principal in three schools in the Central Dauphin School District.

Larry earned a master's degree at Shippensburg University and a PhD at Penn State University.

He and his wife, the former Tina Kusolowski '79, are parents of a daughter, Maria. (APR02)

Alan Lonocorns '79 has been elected superintendent of the Southern Columbia Area School District, where he has been employed since graduation from Bloomsburg.

He was also inducted recently to the Berne Romanoski Chapter of the Pennsylvania Sports Hall of Fame.

Considered one of the greatest all-around athletes to graduate from West Hazleton High School, he earned 11 varsity letters for the Wildcats and served as team captain in cross country, basketball and track and field.

A four-time letter-winner in cross country, he set four course records and was a place winner in league and district meets.

In basketball, he led the team in scoring and rebounding and was a Hazleton-area all-star selection.

In track and field, he set school records in the mile run and high jump and was a District XI Class AAA champion in the mile.

At BU, he lettered in cross country and set a university record in the 1000-meter run. He placed sixth in the PSAC decathlon.

He recently coached his Southern Columbia High School basketball team to his 300th victory at the school.

Now in his 19th season as head coach, his teams had 305 wins and 170 losses starting the new year. His teams have won seven league titles, three PIAA District 4 crowns and had one undefeated regular season. The Tigers made it to the PIAA Eastern final, their only loss, in a 29-1 campaign.

His 13 winning seasons include seven with 20 or more victories. He was voted league Coach of the Year five times.

In addition to coaching basketball, he served as assistant varsity football coach for 12 years, assistant varsity girls' basketball coach for two years and varsity boys track and field coach for 16 years.

After serving as teacher, guidance counselor and administrative assistant, he was named high school principal in 1999.

He holds a master's degree from Bloomsburg (1983), a master's degree in secondary school counseling from Kutztown University (1988), principal's certification from Bucknell University (1991), superintendent's certification from Penn State (1999) and a doctorate from NOVA Southeastern University (2001). (MAR02)

Sandra Serafin '79 has been promoted to the rank of colonel in the Air Force.

In her new position as the Airfield Operations Director, she will develop Air Force procedures and standards for air traffic control operations, airfield and airspace management. She will also manage air traffic control and airfield management center fields and will evaluate air traffic control systems from an operational and maintenance perspective.

Colonel Serafin was previously assigned to the Pentagon as the military director of the Department of Defense Policy Board on Federal Aviation.

A 1982 graduate of the Squadron Officer School at Maxwell AFB in Alabama, she earned a master's degree at Troy State University in 1993.

Her decorations include the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, the Meritorious Service Medal with four oak leaf clusters, the Air Force Commendation Medal with two oak leaf clusters and the Air Force Achievement Medal. (MAR02)

Robert "Larry" Sines '79 has been named head football coach at Bloomsburg High School.

He formerly was assistant coach at Warrior Run for one year and Milton for 14 years.

The campaign, which began in 1998 and ended on June 30, 2002, raised $17,413,645 for educational enhancements at the university.

The following campaign priorities have been completed as a result of the generous contributions of Bloomsburg University alumni, friends, parents, businesses and corporations, faculty and staff:

Capital
Student Services Center—consolidated admissions, student life and academic support in one area
University Store—renovated and modernized
Upper campus recreation facilities—created additional intramural fields

Opportunities for Excellence
Sutliff Hall—renovated classroom space to accommodate modern instructional methods
Campus climate endowment—promotes culturally inclusive programs at the university
Magee Center Auditorium—provides distance education technology and community outreach programs
College of Business scholarships—provides added incentive for students to choose Bloomsburg University
Alternative Communication and Evaluation Treatment Center—provides services for individuals with severe disorders of communication
Center for New and Emerging Technologies—provides instruction, materials, software and hardware for advanced students, faculty and area educators to help them become innovative technology leaders in their school

Husky Club

Auction

The 16th Annual Husky Club Auction was held on April 29, 2002, at the Bloomsburg Fire Hall and raised more than $9,000 for Bloomsburg's General Athletic Scholarship Fund. More than 90 BU supporters bid on over 300 items donated by local businesses, university alumni and friends. Popular items included Tom Model Irons, Richard Bonham prints, mulch, golf packages, La-Z-Boy Recliner, restaurant gift certificates and autographed sports memorabilia. The auction's big vacation package was an overnight stay at the Sheraton New York Hotel and Towers that included pairs of tickets to Broadway's The Full Monty and a Mets baseball game.

Golf Outings

The Husky Club Spring Golf Outing was held May 3, 2002, at Mill Race Golf Course in Benton, PA. Sixty golfers participated, and $2,900 was raised for the General Athletic Scholarship Fund. The winning foursome was Jim Flumenech, Ron Curry, Pete Abiaezinskas and Todd Feese.

The Husky Club Fall Golf Outing is set for October 3, 2002, at the Frosty Valley Country Club. For more details, call the Husky Club Office at 570-389-4663 or the toll-free Alumni line at 800-526-0254.

Student Tuition Raffle

Tickets are now on sale for the 2002 Student Tuition Raffle. This year's raffle winner will receive $2,500, and proceeds benefit the General Athletic Scholarship Fund. In addition to the grand prize drawing, three "early bird" drawings for $250 University Store gift certificates will be held. The $2,500 drawing will take place on August 23, 2002. To purchase raffle tickets call the Husky Club office at 570-389-4663.

New Member

The Husky Club is pleased to introduce Bruce Rosengrant as a new addition to its Board of Advisors. Bruce is a Bloomsburg alum and a former assistant in the sports information office at BU. He is a development officer at Columbia University.

John Devlin Memorial Celebrity Golf Classic

The fourth annual John Devlin Memorial Celebrity Golf Classic was again a huge success, raising approximately $16,000 for the Coach John S. Devlin Jr. Bloomsburg Football Scholarship Fund. Devlin coached football at every level from high school to the NFL, but Bloomsburg University was his final stop after 40 years in the coaching ranks. It was at BU that he returned to his roots and possibly exceeded his own best as a coach.

On June 1, 2002, 144 golfers—BU alumni, friends and professional athletes—descended on the Windsor Heights Golf Course to pay tribute to Coach Devlin. His son Mike Devlin, himself a coach with the NFL's Arizona Cardinals, gathered his friends from the NFL to play along in the foursomes and to donate their autographed memorabilia to the annual auction. This year nearly 30 celebrity players and coaches participated, including Jake Plummer (Arizona Cardinals), Ron Powlus (Philadelphia Eagles), Johnny Roland (Arizona Cardinals Coach), Rob Moore (Denver Broncos), Bo Orlando (Pittsburgh Steelers), Dan Fieca (NY Jets), Jerry Sandusky (Penn State University Coach) and many more.

Two separate tournaments were held this year in order to accommodate the large number of golfers. Prizes were awarded to the low scoring team for each tournament, as well as the winners of contests such as the longest drive, closest to the pin and heat the pro.

The Coach Devlin Scholarship Fund benefits the player each year that best fits Coach Devlin's mold—a player who may not be the best athlete on the field, but who works hard, is tough and above all never quits. To make a donation to the John Devlin Scholarship Fund, please contact Amy Sandt, Development Coordinator, at 570-389-4213.

Phonathon is Major Success

The 2002 Alumni Phonathon, held February 16 through April 25, 2002, was a huge success, raising $113,749. Through the efforts of student callers, led by student supervisors Jen Betine and Lori Vetter, the $110,000 goal was surpassed by 3.4 percent.

In addition, the BU Development Center works in conjunction with an independent agency, The Development Center LLC, to make sure that as many alumni as possible are reached and encouraged to support Bloomsburg University. This year The Development Center LLC raised $44,215 for the university.

In all, more than 2,500 alumni made pledges in support of the Annual Fund campaign. Alumni pledged more than $157,000, including matching gifts from their employers, for projects such as the Student Services Center, scholarships and other educational enhancements at Bloomsburg University.

Friend, mentor, colleague and confidant are just a few of the words used to describe Jennie Carpenter, a long-time Bloomsburg University employee. Jennie's recent passing, on March 24, 2002, has prompted the university to establish a scholarship in her name.

Jennie began her tenure at Bloomsburg in 1968 as the Dean of Women. She retired in 1994 while holding the position Vice President of Student Life.

During her 26 years at Bloomsburg Jennie touched many lives. It is hoped that this scholarship, to be awarded to a graduate student in education, will help to keep her memory alive.

If you are interested in contributing to the Jennie Carpenter Memorial Scholarship, please contact Amy Sandt, Development Coordinator at 570-389-4211.

Class Gift Commemorates September 11

This year the senior class chose to make a gift that will serve not only as the legacy of their class, but also as a memorial to those who were lost in New York, Pennsylvania and Washington, DC, as a result of the terrorist attacks against the United States on September 11, 2001.

Three flagpoles, flying the American flag, the Pennsylvania state flag and the flag of Bloomsburg University, will be erected near Carver Hall.

To date 144 seniors have made pledges, totaling $13,280. Their gifts also benefit New Challenges, New Opportunities. The Campaign for Bloomsburg University.

About 300 soon-to-be-graduates attended the Alumni Association's annual Senior Send-off Picnic at the Fenstemaker Alumni House on April 25, 2002.

The Best of the Best

Lewisburg Area Middle School boasts 16 BU grads on its 39-member faculty. Could all that Husky enthusiasm be why the school has received so many awards?

In May the school was named 2001-2002 Blue Ribbon School of Excellence by the U. S. Department of Education. Dr. O'Brien, program director, stated in his congratulatory letter that nationally "your school is among the best of the best."

In 2000, Lewisburg Middle School was received the prestigious Donald H. Eichhorn Award from the Pennsylvania Middle School Association. The school was designated Middle School of Distinction in 1999 and Secondary School of Distinction in 2001 by the Pennsylvania Department of Education.

Floyd Walters, principal, says that a number of factors contribute to the school's success.

First, the school focuses on the ten elements of a true middle school as specified by the National Middle School Association:

- knowledgeable and committed educators focusing on the developmental needs of middle school students
- a balanced curriculum based on the needs of students
- a wide range of organizational arrangements to meet the needs of students
- varied instructional strategies
- a full exploratory program
- comprehensive advisor/advisee programs
- two full-time guidance counselors
- continuous progress for students
- evaluation procedures compatible with the nature of today's adolescents
- cooperative team planning and interaction
- an empowered teaching staff
- a positive and safe school environment

Second, the school operates under a philosophy of teacher empowerment. Teachers are responsible for developing and setting teaching schedules, working together in a collaborative and cooperative format, team teaching, as well as being mentors for the students.

With the start of this school year, the school's name will be change to the Donald H. Eichhorn

Middle School, in honor of Lewisburg's Superintendent of Schools from 1980 to 1988. Eichhorn was recognized nationally as a founder of the middle school movement. He was very supportive of the Lewisburg's development of a true middle school focusing on children's developmental needs as well as academic excellence.

Friends of the Bloomsburg University Library

The Friends of the Bloomsburg University Library Association is proud to announce that Governor Schweiker will serve as its honorary chair.

The winter/spring educational program, chaired by Charles Carlson, included two major events in conjunction with the town of Bloomsburg bicentennial program.

In the style of the History Channel's presentation of historical movies, the Friends presented "The Molly Maguires: some fact, some fiction, with local reference to both" with Bill Acerno. The movie, produced on location in the region, included a scene in Bloomsburg. Bill provided the historical perspective based on materials he had gathered over the years and his visit to the filming sites.

The Friends also presented "General George Meade and the history of the Pennsylvania Reserve Corps and Bloomsburg Civil War history." In the persona of General George Meade, vicar of Gettysburg and former commander of the Pennsylvania Reserves, Anthony Waskie '68, Civil War historian and Bloomsburg native, related the story of the famous Pennsylvania Reserves, a fighting division in the Civil War and its Bloomsburg connection. (See photo page 12.)

The Friends book sale is becoming a much-anticipated annual event for the campus, the community and perhaps beyond. One of largest single purchase of the sale was by a gentleman from Princeton, New Jersey. If you have books you would like to donate for next year's sale, you can send them to the library at anytime: Andruss Library, Bloomsburg University, 400 East Second Street, Bloomsburg PA 17185-1301

Spring Sports Wrap-up

The spring sports season at Bloomsburg was another successful one for the Huskies.

Softball

In softball, the Huskies finished tied for third at the NCAA championships with a record of 44-8. Under coach Jan Hutchinson, they won both the PSAC championship and the NCAA Mid-Atlantic Regional titles to earn a trip to the national championship round in Salem, VA. In Salem, the Huskies won their opening round game over Kennesaw State before falling to St. Mary's of Texas. Bloomsburg then came back and beat Barry University before dropping a tough, 1-0, to Grand Valley State on a hit in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Bloomsburg had three players named All-Americans with Jess Shnyder picking up first team honors, Lisa Mull second team honors and Kerri Cooper, third team. Cooper was also named the PSAC Eastern Division Athlete of the Year.

Baseball

In baseball, the Huskies finished with a record of 24-24, an improvement of eight wins from the previous year. At one point in the season the Huskies won 13 of 14 games and won the opening-season Apprentice College Tournament. Earning post-season honors for the Huskies were Jason Helcoski and Brian Sperling. The two were named second team All-Region selections by the coaches of the North Atlantic Region.

Lacrosse

In lacrosse, the Huskies finished with a record of 10-4, losing in the PSAC title game 12-11 to West Chester on a late goal. After starting the season with a record of 2-2, the Huskies rattled off seven wins in a row at one point in the season to reach the PSAC title game. Despite the loss, two players were named All-American for the year. Katie Maclean was a first team selection while goalie Yshonda Wisher was a second team selection.

Men's Tennis

The men's tennis team finished the year with a record of 12-6. The Huskies finished second at the PSAC championships, dropping a tough 5-3 decision to Kutztown. The team advanced to the NCAA championships and lost a heart-breaker, 5-4, to Assumption College. Several members of the team earned All-PSAC honors, while freshman Mike McGrath was named the East Region Player to Watch by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association.

Women's Tennis

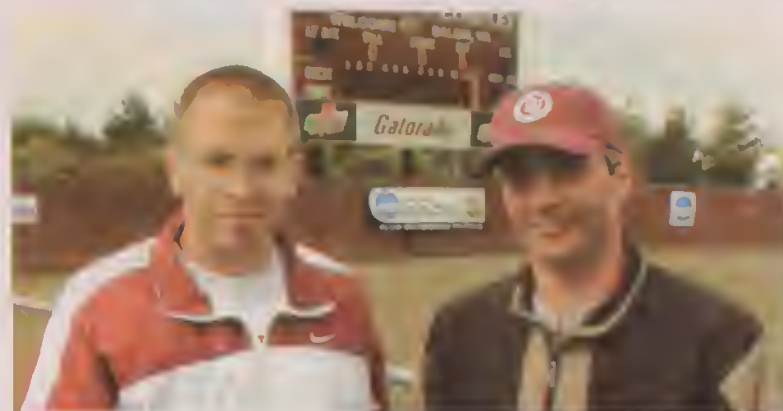

The women's tennis team posted a record of 11-8 on the year and finished second at the PSAC championships before winning the NCAA East region title and advancing to the national championship round. At the NCAA championships the Huskies lost their first round match to Barry University. Junior Erin Bartsch was named the PSAC Athlete of the Year in women's tennis, while Julie Bramante, was named the Rookie of the Year in the East Region by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association.

Track

In track, the Huskies had an outstanding freshman, Danielle Kramer, who turned in a terrific season. In her first season at Bloomsburg, Kramer took part in nine regular season indoor and outdoor meets and had eight wins and one second in distances ranging from 1500 to 10,000. At the prestigious Penn Relays in late April, Kramer ran the 10,000 meter race in a personal-best time of 36:04, the second fastest time in Division II this season. At the Susquehanna Invitational Kramer set a stadium record at 10,000 meters by winning in a time of 36:49, then set a new meet record at 5,000 meters (17:49) at the Christopher Newport Invitational. At the PSAC championships Kramer finished second at 5,000 meters in a time of 17:39, new personal record. Kramer qualified for the NCAA championships and finished 14th at 10,000 meters.

Spring Sports Wrap-up

The spring sports season at Bloomsburg was another successful one for the Huskies

Softball

In softball, the Huskies finished tied for third at the NCAA championships with a record of 44-8. Under coach Jan Hutchinson, they won both the PSAC championship and the NCAA Mid-Atlantic Regional titles to earn a trip to the national championship round in Salem, VA. In Salem, the Huskies won their opening round game over Kennesaw State before falling to St. Mary's of Texas. Bloomsburg then came back and beat Barry University before dropping a tough, 1-0, to Grand Valley State on a hit in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Bloomsburg had three players be named All-Americans with Jess Shnyder picking up first team honors, Lisa Mull second team honors and Kerri Cooper, third team. Cooper was also named the PSAC Eastern Division Athlete of the Year.

Baseball

In baseball, the Huskies finished with a record of 24-24, an improvement of eight wins from the previous year. At one point in the season the Huskies won 13 of 14 games and won the opening-season Apprentice College Tournament. Earning post-season honors for the Huskies were Jason Helcoski and Brian Sperling. The two were named second team All-Region selections by the coaches of the North Atlantic Region.

Lacrosse

In lacrosse, the Huskies finished with a record of 10-4, losing in the PSAC title game 12-11 to West Chester on a late goal. After starting the season with a record of 2-2, the Huskies rattled off seven wins in a row at one point in the season to reach the PSAC title game. Despite the loss, two players were named All-American for the year. Katie Maclean was a first team selection while goalie Yshonda Wisher was a second team selection.

Men's Tennis

The men's tennis team finished the year with a record of 12-6. The Huskies finished second at the PSAC championships, dropping a tough 5-3 decision to Kutztown. The team advanced to the NCAA championships and lost a heart-breaker, 5-4, to Assumption College. Several members of the team earned All-PSAC honors, while freshman Mike McGrath was named the East Region Player to Watch by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association.

Women's Tennis

The women's tennis team posted a record of 11-8 on the year and finished second at the PSAC championships before winning the NCAA East region title and advancing to the national championship round. At the NCAA championships the Huskies lost their first round match to Barry University. Junior Erin Bartsch was named the PSAC Athlete of the Year in women's tennis, while Julie Bramante, was named the Rookie of the Year in the East Region by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association.

Track

In track, the Huskies had an outstanding freshman, Danielle Kramer, who turned in a terrific season. In her first season at Bloomsburg, Kramer took part in nine regular season indoor and outdoor meets and had eight wins and one second in distances ranging from 1500 to 10,000. At the prestigious Penn Relays in late April, Kramer ran the 10,000 meter race in a personal-best time of 36:04, the second fastest time in Division II this season. At the Susquehanna Invitational Kramer set a stadium record at 10,000 meters by winning in a time of 36:49, then set a new meet record at 5,000 meters (17:49) at the Christopher Newport Invitational. At the PSAC championships Kramer finished second at 5,000 meters in a time of 17:39, new personal record. Kramer qualified for the NCAA championships and finished 14th at 10,000 meters.

Bloomsburg University To Induct

by Tom McGuire
BU Sports Information Director

The 21st Bloomsburg University Athletic Hall of Fame class will be inducted Friday, October 4, during Homecoming Weekend. The induction of five graduates will bring to 93 the number of members in the Bloomsburg Athletic Hall of Fame.

Softball and field hockey star Laurie Snyder '84, track and field star Jim Davis '72, baseball and basketball great Don Butler '53, women's swimming star Beth Roeder-Zimmerman '88 and football and baseball standout Line Wetley '75 will earn the university's highest honor based on their contributions to Bloomsburg athletics.

Laurie Snyder '84

Snyder was a three-time All-American for the Huskies' field hockey team and a four-year letter-winner in softball.

During her field hockey career, Snyder had 28 shutouts and led the Huskies to two national championships.

She posted a 0-72 goals against average in 1981 to lead the Huskies to the AIAW national championship. She also posted 10 shutouts that season and added 12 in 1983 as the Huskies won their first NCAA title. She finished her career with 23 shutouts.

In softball, Snyder played for four years for the Huskies, helping the team to an overall record of 114-21 and, in 1983 and 1984, the first two PSAC championships ever held.

Snyder was also the Huskies starting first baseman on the 1982 AIAW national championship team, the first-ever national title won at Bloomsburg.

As a freshman she led Bloomsburg in hitting with a .395 average.

Snyder was also a standout in the classroom and was selected as an Academic All-American by the College Sports Information Directors of America in 1983.

Jim Davis '72

As a standout on the track and field team Davis won the PSAC title in the 100-yard dash in 1971 and 1972. In the 220-yard event, Davis was second in 1971 and took first in 1972. At the 1972 PSAC championships, Davis won the award for most points scored at the championships (18).

During his four years at Bloomsburg he helped the Huskies post a dual meet record of 44-3 as well as finishing third at the PSAC championships in 1971 and second in 1972.

Davis was a three-year captain for the Huskies and earned the Underclassmen of the Year honor in 1970 and the Robert B. Redman Award as the Outstanding Senior Athlete in 1972. He also selected to the Outstanding College Athletes of America and Who's Who Among American Universities and Colleges.

The Veterans Corner

by Dale Krothe '60

A short story to honor those veterans who have fallen in the line of duty in countless wars over the years:

An aging veteran wearing his much-too-small WWII uniform was raising the American flag on a small pole in his front yard. Next door a man and his wife were barbequing, drinking and enjoying the holiday weekend. Noticing the old veteran raising the flag the neighbor leaned over the fence and asked, "Hey Pal, how much did the flag cost you?" Without pause, the old veteran responded, "Four buddies and a brother!"

May we always remember the sacrifices of our servicemen and women throughout the year and every year.

Our veterans committee met on Alumni Day, May 4, and discussed a lengthy agenda:

- Our veteran memorial scholarship fund needs your support. To be a self-sustaining award, $24,000 is needed. To date $14,000 has been contributed. Please help us award $1,000 yearly to a veteran or veteran's relative by your direct contribution using the form provided here or by designating any contribution of more than $50 to benefit veterans scholarships. We are proud to announce this year's veterans memorial scholarship recipient as Crystal Skotedis from Northumberland, PA. Crystal is a senior majoring in business administration/accounting.
- Thanks to our Alumni Association for funding the new sidewalk connecting the Alumni House to the veterans memorial garden.
- Plans are in place to replace the diseased and overgrown shrubbery around the memorial garden.
- We have parade flags of the Marine Corps and the Coast Guard. Navy, Air Force and Army flags will also be procured. Metal ground standards will be placed around the veterans monument so that the flags can be displayed at formal programs and for patriotic holidays.

- A letter will be sent at the appropriate time to relatives of deceased BU veterans. They will be asked to complete a veteran's bio form to be included in our book of service at the Alumni House.
- The WWI veterans' monument, long a topic in this column and the object of our committee efforts, will be moved to the grounds of the Alumni House and finally being given proper recognition. Unknown to us, students of Dr. Nancy Ford, when pursuing a class project, located the monument and were appalled by the neglected site. They have 800-1,000 signatures on a petition to restore and sanctify the site through a rededication effort. Plans are in progress to achieve that goal through fundraising projects. Our Veterans committee supports their efforts and commends them for their show of dedication, patriotism and commitment to a worthwhile cause. More on this topic as work progresses.

The veterans committee has received official notice that BU has been designated by the US Defense Department as a commemorative community to honor our Korean veterans during 2003, the 50th anniversary of the end of the Korean War. Materials, flags, pins, etc., will be part of our Alumni Day 2003 program in May. Letters will be going out to BU Korean veterans this summer. More information will be forthcoming to all alumni as plans progress.

To receive a BU veteran's bio form to be included in our book of service, please call the Alumni Office at 800-526-0254. You've earned the right to be part of the history of BU.

Our next chance for a get-together will be at Homecoming this Fall. Plan now for Saturday, October 5! See you then. Enjoy the summer.

Yes, I want to help build the Veterans Memorial Scholarship Fund to $25,000. Here is my gift of $_____.

2002 Athletic Hall of Fame Class

At the time of his graduation, Davis held three individual and three relay records.

Following graduation, Davis coached girl's track at Cedar Cliff High School from 1975 to 1996. His team won two conference titles and he coached numerous district and state place winners.

Davis

Don Butler '53

Butler was a four-year letter-winner for the Huskies in baseball and a three-time letter-winner in basketball.

As a member of the baseball team, Butler finished his career with a batting average of .407 while hitting 14 homers and driving in 53 runs. He helped the team to a four-year record of 41-9.

Butler

Butler hit safely in 18 straight games at one point of his career, covering parts of three seasons. During the course of his streak he had two or more hits 15 times and had a hit in 42 of his 50 games he played in during his career. Butler was also an excellent outfielder making just one error during his career.

As a member of the basketball Butler scored 348 points in his career and was the team's second leading scorer during the 1950-51 season when he averaged 10.6 points per game.

Following graduation, Butler played in the farm system of the then Boston Braves and the Chicago White Sox. He also played baseball in St. Thomas, Ontario, Canada, for five years.

Roeder-Zimmerman

Roeder-Zimmerman '88

Roeder-Zimmerman, known as Beth Roeder during her career with the Huskies, was a seven-time All-American for the women's swimming team at Bloomsburg.

She earned four All-American honors in individual events and three as a member of a relay team. She also earned five honorable mention All-American awards at the NCAA championships.

Roeder's highest individual finish at the NCAA championships was second in the 200 fly in 1988 in a school-record time of 2:04.40, a mark that still stands today. She also finished fourth as a junior in 1987 in the 100 fly in 58.18 seconds.

At the PSAC championships, Roeder took home three individual titles and one relay championship in her career and helped the Huskies to four, second-place finishes at the PSAC championships.

At the time of her graduation, Roeder held two individual records (100 and 200 fly) and was part of the record-holding 400-medley relay team.

Linx Welles '75

Welles was a four-year letter-winner in baseball and a three-time letter-winner in football for the Huskies. He was named the Underclassmen Athlete of the Year as a junior and won the Redman Award as the school's top senior athlete in 1975.

A two-time All-PSAC selection in both football and baseball, Welles led the NCAA Division III in punting in 1973 with a mark of 43.8 yards. That is still good for the 12th best mark in the division since 1973, a span of 29 years.

Welles was also an all-conference selection as a defensive back and is the co-holder of the single-season interception mark at Bloomsburg with 10 in 1974.

Welles

On the baseball diamond, Welles hit .398 for his career with a homer and 27 RBI. In 1973 and 1974 he was named first team All-PSAC and was a second team selection in 1975 after missing eight games due to injury. He was team MVP in both 1973 and 1975.

Following his playing days at Bloomsburg, Welles punted and played defensive back for the Philadelphia Bell of the World Football League, where he averaged 38.6 yards per kick in the 1975 season.

Welles is in his second year as the head football coach at Wyalusing High School after spending 21 years as an assistant coach.
